Relating to Second Day of Out-of-Country Voting

In the afternoon on Friday at 3:32 o'clock, the second day of out-of-country voting, attendance rate exceeded the total of those who attended to vote in the Referendum for Egypt's Constitution 2014. The number of attendees reached 107,116 voters.

Most of the embassies, especially the Gulf states, witness heavy turnout of citizens in the early morning hours and lasted until the moments of writing this release.

The voting process is going on smoothly and increasing steadily without any problems, despite the intensity of the attendance. The General Committee for Egyptians out-of-country is in continuous session to overcome any obstacles facing the voting process.
