Due to the severe heat wave sweeping the country, the increased voter turnout in the evening and that the time of voting ends at 9:00 p.m. and the difficulty in extending it to late at night to avoid exhausting the judges.

In response to the wishes of many people, especially out of governorate voters who could not register to vote in their preferred locations in the period specified by the Committee, and in order for those to be able to cast their vote in the original electoral domicile.

The Presidential Elections Committee decided;

First, extending the voting for one more day ending at 9:00 p.m. on Wednesday, 28/05/2014.

Second, If voters exist in the electoral premises, the committee shall write down a list containing their names. Voting will continue until all voters on the list have cast their votes.

Third, the issued decree on extending the voting time today to 10:00 p.m. shall be repealed. Voting will end at 9 p.m.
